HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS
AND
Hoofland's German Tonic.

The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS

Is composed of the pure juices (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, highly concentrated, and entirely free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,

Is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with the purest quality of Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.

Those preferring a Medicine free from Alchoholic admixture, will use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

Those who have no objection to the combination of the bitters, as stated, will use

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.

They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice between the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonic being the most palatable.

The stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc, is very apt to have its functions deranged. The Liver, sympathizing as closely as it does with the stomach, then becomes affected, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the Sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil, and Great Depression of Spirits.

The sufferer from these diseases should exercise the greatest caution in the selection of a remedy for his case, purchasing only that which he is assured from his investigation and inquiries possesses true merit, is skilfully compounded; is free from injurious ingredients, and has established for itself a reputation for the cure of these diseases. In this connection we would submit those well known remedies—

AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC,
Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON,
PHILADELPHIA, PA.

Twenty-two years since they were first introduced into this country from Germany, during which time they have undoubtedly performed more cures, and benefited suffering humanity to a greater extent, than any other remedies known to the public.

These remedies will effectually cure Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Chronic or Nervous Debility, Chronic Diarrhoea, Disease of the Kidneys, and all Diseases arising from a disordered Liver, Stomach, or Intestines.

DEBILITY,

Resulting from any Cause whatever; PROSTRATION OF THE SYSTEM, induced by Severe Labor, Hardships, Exposure, Fevers, &c.

There is no medicine extant equal to these remedies in such cases. A tone and vigor is imparted to the whole system, the appetite is strengthened, food is enjoyed, the stomach digests promptly, the blood is purified, the complexion becomes sound and healthy, the yellow tinge is eradicated from the eyes, a bloom is given to the cheeks, and the weak and nervous invalid becomes a strong and healthy being.

PERSONS ADVANCED IN LIFE,

And feeling the hand of time weighing heavily upon them, with all its attendant ills, will find in the use of this BITTERS, or the TONIC, an elixir that will instil new life into their veins, restore in a measure the energy and ardor of more youthful days, build up their shrunken forms, and give health and happiness to their remaining years.

NOTICE.

It is a well established fact that fully one half of the female portion of our population are seldom in the enjoyment of good health; or, to use their own expression, never feel well. They are languid, devoid of all energy, extremely nervous, and have no appetite.

To this class of persons the BITTERS, or the TONIC, is especially recommended.

WEAK AND DELICATE CHILDREN,

Are made strong by the use of either of these remedies. They will cure every case of MARASMUS, without fail.

Thousands of certificates have accumulated in the hands of the proprietor, but space will allow of the publication of but a few. Those, it will be observed, are men of note and of such standing that they must be believed.

TESTIMONIALS.

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD,
Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pa., writes:
Philadelphia, March 18, 1767.

"I find 'Hoofland's German Bitters' is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility, and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD."

HON. JAMES THOMPSON,
Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
Philadelphia, April 28, 1866.

"I consider 'Hoofland's German Bitters' a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect, JAMES THOMPSON."

FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,
Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.

Dr. Jackson—Dear Sir: I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that, for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes.

Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Eighth, below Coates St.

FROM REV. E. D. FENDALL.
Assistant Editor Christian Chronicle, Philadelphia.

I have derived decided benefit from the use of Hoofland's German Bitters, and feel it my privilege to recommend them as a most valuable tonic, to all who are suffering from general debility or from diseases arising from derangement of the liver.

Yours truly,
E. D. FENDALL.

CAUTION.

MY HAPPY HOME.

Respectfully Dedicated to Miss Annie S. Allen, by J. H. Reed.

My home is near the mountain
'Tis in the forest dell,
The flowing of the fountain
Does e'er with music swell,
It sings of happy childhood
Of scenes I played a part,
In shadows of the wildwood
They're written on my heart;

The weeping willow waving
Its branches bending low,
The ebbing brooklet laving
Its ever gentle flow;
A tree so tall and slender
Is waving by its side,
With branches slim and tender
'Twas there the swing did glide.

The youthful voices ringing
In childhood's happy plays,
The pretty birds were singing
Their softest sweetest lays,
The god of day was peeping
O'er verge of distant hills
His sleepless watch was keeping
The laws of Heav'n fulfills.

The pretty flowrets waving
On slender stems of gold,
The gentle sunlight craving
As op'ning buds unfold,
'Twas there I culled the flowers
For friends that loved me true
In summer's pleasant hours,
When weeping with the dew.

MARTHA WARREN.

A STORY OF THE AMMONOOSUC RIVER.

"Good-bye, Martha. God help you! I shall be back in three days at the farthest."

The hardy White Mountain pioneer, Mark Warren, kissed his young wife, held his two years old boy to his breast for a moment, and then shouldering the sack of corn which was to be converted into meal at the rude mill, forty miles away, trudged on through the wilderness.

Martha Warren stood at the door of the log cottage, gazing out after the retreating form of her husband. An angle of the dense shrubbery hid him from her view, but still she did not return to the solitary kitchen, it looked so dark and lonesome there, she shrank from entering, or perhaps the grand sublimity of the view spread out before her attention and thrilled her soul with that nameless, unexpected something that we all see when standing thus face to face with the works of His fingers.

The finest and most satisfactory view of the White Mountains is that which presents itself from what is now the town of Bethlehem, on the road to Littleton and Franconia. Mt. Washington, the king among princes, is there seen in its proper place—the centre of the "rock-ribbed" range—towering, bald, blue and unapproachable.

Far up in a wild clearing, close by the turbid waters of the Ammonoosoc, was the cottage situated—a place wild and ærie, enough for the nest of an eagle, but near to the heart of Martha Warren as the home where she had spent the happy days of her young wifehood. When she had turned from many a patrician suitor, in the fair old town of Portsmouth, to join her fortunes with those of the young settler, it was with the full and perfect understanding of the trials that lay before her. She would walk in no path of roses for years to come; much of life must be spent in the eternal solitudes, where silence was broken only by the wild winds of the forest, the shriek of the river over the sharp rocks, or the dismal howl of the red mounted wolf afar in the wilderness.

The necessary absence of her husband she dreaded most. It was so very gloomy to close up her lonely fireside, with the consciousness that there was no human being nearer to her than the settlement of Lord's Hill, ten miles away through the pathless woods.

There was little to fear from the Indians, although a few of the scattered tribes yet roamed over these primeval hunting grounds. They were mostly disposed to be friendly, and Mrs. Warren's kind heart naturally prompted her to many acts of friendship towards them, and an Indian never forgets a benefit.

The purple mist cleared away from the scarred forehead of the dominant old mountain; the yellow sun peeped over the rocky wall, and Martha turned away to the performance of her simple domestic duties. The day was a long one, but it was towards evening, and the glooming comes much sooner in these solitudes than in any other places. The sun light faded out of the unglazed windows, though it would illuminate the distant mountains for sometime yet; and Martha went out in the scanty gardens to inhale the odor of the sweet pinks on the meagre root she had brought from her old home.

The spicy perfume carried her back in memory of those days away in the past, spent with kind friends, and cheered by bright young hopes. But though the thought of home and kindred made her sad, not for a moment did she regret the fate she had chosen. Absorbed in thought she had not observed the absence of Charlie, her little boy; now she saw with vague uneasiness that he had left the bed of peppermint where he had been playing, and was not to be seen. She called his name, but only echo and the roar of the swollen river replied. She flew back to the house, the faint hope remaining that he might have returned thither for his pet kitten; but no, the kitten was mewing at the window, but no signs of Charlie.

With frantic haste she searched the clearing, but without success. Her next thought was the river! Black as the night, save where it was flecked with spots of white foam—it flowed but a few rods before her. She hurried down the brink, calling out, "Charley, Charley!"

The child's voice at some little distance replied. She followed the sound, and to her sorrow saw the boy—his golden hair and rosy cheeks clearly defined against the purple twilight sky—standing on the very edge of the huge, detached rock, some ten feet from the shore, out in the sweeping current of the river!

This rock, called by the settlers "The Pulpit," was a good situation for casting fishing lines, and Mark Warren had bridged the narrow chasm between it and the shore with a couple of hewn logs.

Allured by some clusters of flaming fire weed growing on the side of the Pulpit, Charley had passed over, and now stood there, regardless of danger, laughingly holding out the floral treasures to his mother. Martha flew over the frail bridge, and the next instant held her child in her arms. Joyful because she had found uninjured, and mentally resolving that the logs should be removed to prevent further accident, she turned to retrace her steps, but the sight that met her eyes froze her with horror to the spot.

Confronting her on the bridge, not six feet distant, was an enormous wolf, gaunt and bony with hunger, his eyes blazing like live coals through the mist and gloom, his hot fervid breath scorching the very air she breathed.

A low growl of intense satisfaction stirred the air, answered by the growl of fifty more of his kind, belonging to the pack; in another moment they would be upon her!

Without an instant's thought of the consequence Martha obeyed her first impulse, and struck the logs with her foot, exercising all her mad strength in the blow. The frail fabric tottered, the soft earth gave way, there was a breath of wild suspense, and then the bridge went down with a dull plunge into the waters beneath! The sharp claws of the wolf had already been fixed on the scant vegetation of the rock, and he held there a moment, struggling with ferocious strength to gain a foothold, the next he slid down into the chasm, uttering a wild howl of disappointed rage.

Martha sank on her knees and offered up a fervid prayer of thanksgiving for her escape; but simultaneously with the heartfelt "Amen," there came a dreadful recollection. The bridge formed the only link between the Pulpit and the main land, and that was severed! True, she was not more than twenty feet distant from the shores of the river, but she might as well have been thousands of miles out in the ocean. The water was deep and it ran with almost inconceivable rapidity, forty or fifty feet below her, over rocks so sharp and jagged that it made her shiver to look over the brink.

Her only hope was in her husband. Should he return at the expected time they might still be alive; but if, by any accident he should be detained beyond the time! She closed her eyes, and besought God for protection and help.

Cold and hungry, and drenched by the mist of the river, Charlie began to cry for home. She could bear anything better than that. She took off her own garments to fold around him, and held him to her breast and sang him the cradle songs which had so often soothed him.

But the fierce howls of the wolves and the sullen thunders of the river, filling his little heart with terror, all the long dark night through, he clung to her neck, sleeplessly crying to go home to papa.

Day dawned at last, the pale sun swimming through the sickly sky, the pallid forecast of a storm. Weak and faint from cold—for summer is no bearer of tropical smiles in this inhospitable clime—Martha paced back and forth the narrow limits of the rock.—None came—the faint sun declined—it was night again. A cold fog sank down over the mountain, followed by a drizzling rain, which before morning changed into a perfect deluge. The river rose fearfully, foaming milk-white down the gorge, filling the air with a shuddering roar, like the peal of an imprisoned earthquake.

The day that followed was no better, only rain and ashen-white mist—not a ray of sunshine.

A new fear rose in the heart of Martha Warren. The turbulence of stream must have swept away the bridge over which her husband would cross on his return, and he would be detained—for days, may be for weeks.

She gave up all for lost. Strongly and fearfully was she tempted to fold her child in her arms and plunge into the cauldron beneath, and thus end her fear and doubt! It would be better she thought than to suffer that slow, painful death of starvation! But something held her back—God's curse was on those who do self-murder.

Towards night, a lost robin, beaten about by the storm, stopped to rest a moment on the rock; Martha seized upon him and rent him in twain, with almost savage glee, for her child to devour raw—she, who two days before would have wept at the sight of the wounded sparrow.

Another night and day, like the other, only more intensely agonizing. Martha Warren was sullenly indifferent now; suffering had palsied every noble feeling. Charlie moaned for supper—too weak and spent to sit up, he was lying on the rock, his head in her lap, his great eyes fixed on her face. She tore open a vein in her arm with her scissors, and made him drink the blood! Anything, she said to herself, to calm the wild, wish-yearnings of his eyes. The boy rose—he sat up and peered through the darkness.

"Mamma," he said, "papa is coming. I felt him touch me."

She wept at the mockery, and drew the child frantically to her bosom.

The night was fair, lit up by a new moon. Overcome by a deadly exhaustion, against which she could make no resistance, Martha fell into an uneasy slumber, which towards midnight was broken by a startling cry. She sprang to her feet and gazed around her.

No! her eyes did not deceive her—there on the shore stood the stalwart form of her husband, and he was calling her name, with the energy of despair. She could only cry out, "O, Mark, Mark!" and fell senseless to the earth. When she awoke to consciousness, she was lying on her bed in the cottage, supported by her husband's arms. It was no dream. She and her darling boy were dead; and he came back. Many weeks passed before she grew strong again; but Mark tended her as a mother would an infant, and by the time the autumn frosts fell, she was the blithe Mary Warren of old.

At the time of the freshet, the bridge over the Ammonoosuc had indeed been swept away, but Mark, impelled by an uncontrollable fear—almost a presentiment—had crossed the river, at the risk of his life, on a rude log raft, and reached home, only to find it vacant.

The descendants of Mark Warren and his wife still dwell among the fertile valleys of the Ammonoosuc, and the old men still tell to their grandchildren the story of Martha Warren and her child.

The Pen of Heaven.

The day grows yet more solemn. Its solemnity reaches its highest point and culminates in the momentous issue of judgment. It is the day of God's settlement with a world that has had a long credit. It is the winding up of this earth's bankrupt estate, and each man's individual interest. It is closing of an open account that has been running on ever since the fall. It is the day when the balance is struck, and our fate is heaven or hell; and by the manner in which we walked in these statutes, and kept those statutes, and kept these judgments, and did them, our destiny is determined.

The most common action of life, in every day, every hour, is invested with a solemn grandeur, when we think how they extend their issues into eternity. Our hands are now sowing the seed for that great harvest. We shall meet again all we are doing and have done. The graves shall give up their dead, and from the tombs of oblivion the past shall give up all that it holds in keeping to be witness for or against. Oh! think of that, and in yonder hall of the Inquisitions, see what its effect on us should be! Within those blood-stained walls, for those atrocious cruelties Rome has yet to answer, one is under examination. He has been assured that nothing he reveals shall be written for the purpose of being used against him. While making frank and ingenious confession, he suddenly stops. He is dumb—a mute. They ply him with questions, flatter him—he answers not a word. Danger makes the senses quick; his ear has caught a sound; he listens; it ties his tongue. An arras hangs beside him, and behind it he hears a pen running along the pages. The truth flashes on him. Behind that screen a scribe sits, committing to the fatal page every word that he says, and he shall meet it again on the day of trial.

Ah! how solemn to think there is such a pen going in Heaven, and entering on the books of judgment all that we say or wish, and all we think or do. Would to God we heard it! What a check! and what a stimulus! Are you about to sin, how strong a curb! If slow to duty, how sharp a spur! What a motive to pray for the blood that blots out a guilty past, and for such grace as in time to come shall enable us to walk in God's statutes to keep his judgments and do them. "Knowing, therefore, the terror of the Lord, we persuade men."

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.—A "legal stone" is 14 pounds in England, and 16 pounds in Holland. A fathom, six feet, is derived from the height of a full grown man. A hand in horse measure is four inches. An Irish mile is 2,240 yards; a Scotch mile is 1,984; a German 1,806; a Turkish 1,626. An acre is 1,840 square yards, a foot and three and a half inches each way. A mile square, 1,760 yards each way, contains 640 acres. The human body consists of 240 bones, 9 kinds of articulations or joinings, 100 cartilages or ligaments, 400 muscles or tendons, and 100 nerves, besides blood, arteries, veins, &c. Potatoes planted below three feet do not vegetate; at one foot they are retarded two or three months. There are no solid rocks in the Arctic regions owing to the severe frosts. The surface of the sea is estimated at 150,000,000 square miles, taking the whole surface of the globe to be 190,000,000 square miles. Its greatest depth is supposed to be the heighth of the highest mountain, or four miles.

☞ A dandy of twenty-six, having been termed an "old bachelor," appealed to an elderly gentleman to decide whether he should be called "old" or not, giving his age. "Twenty-six," said the elderly gentleman. "It's owing to how you take it. Now, for a man, it is young enough; but for a goose it is rather old."

☞ A fellow, in obvious state, took up his lodgings on the sidewalk. He woke next morning and straightened himself up, looking on the ground on which he had made his couch. "Well," he said, "if I had a pickax, I would make up my bed!"

WM. LEWIS,
HUGH LINDSAY, } EDITORS.

The "Globe" has the largest number of readers of any other paper published in the county. Advertisers should remember this.

☞The grand jury has dismissed the case against Surratt, on the ground that the President's amnesty proclamation pardons him from all past treason and all offenses against the Government.

☞Mr. Samuel T. Brown has been appointed on the following committees in the House of Representatives: Judiciary General, Federal Relations, Education, Counties and Townships (chairman,) and Divorces.

☞The nomination of Hon. John Scott has elicited a great deal of praise from the press and the people generally, and scarcely a word of censure from any quarter. It is of some importance in this wicked world to be a man of brains and a good man.

☞We neglected to notice in our last issue that Mr. David Caldwell of this place was the Democratic nominee in the State Senate for Chief Clerk. He received every vote of his party for the position, but fell short of an election by two votes. Mr. Caldwell would have made a good Clerk, but he can't "come in" until his party has the power to take him in.

☞The House of Representatives on the 11th, by a vote of 119 to 47, repealed the Tenure of Office bill, 33 Democrats voting in the affirmative, and the negative vote being all Republicans. Among the latter were Messrs. Morrell, Mercur and Moorhead of this State. Should the bill pass the Senate and become a law, it will materially affect the status of many postmasters who have been consoling themselves with the certainty of their holding until the expiration of their commissions, some running two years yet.

☞Hon. John Minor Botts died on the 8th inst., at his residence, Auburn, near Brandy Station, Virginia, of paralysis, of which he was seized on the Wednesday before. He was born Sept. 16, 1802, joined the Whig party in 1834. In 1830 he was a member of the Virginia legislature, and re-elected several times. In 1839 he was elected to the XXVIIth Congress. In 1847 he was returned to Congress for the third time. At the dissolution of the Whig party, he became a prominent American. During the Rebellion, Mr. Botts was a Union man, and was imprisoned for a time in Richmond.

☞Corporeal punishment in schools has been entirely abolished, with success, in one district in Boston where there are over 1,000 pupils.—Exchange.

It has been substantially abolished these three years, in the two highest schools in Lewistown; and no better behaved schools can be found in the State.—Lewistown Democrat.

The same experiment has been tried at times by certain school teachers in this borough, and it was found very beneficial. But as it is now, the whole matter is left to the judgment of the school teacher himself. We hope our School Board will take the subject under consideration, and abolish corporeal punishment. We are tired hearing of complaints being raised of outrageous treatment of scholars.

U. S. Senator John Scott.

To-day, Tuesday, Hon. John Scott, one of our most worthy citizens, will be elected a United States Senator for six years by the Legislature of the great State of Pennsylvania. The Senators and Representatives are but the servants of the people, and in the election of Mr. Scott the will of the people has been respected. It is gratifying to Mr. Scott's home friends that his success is as generally endorsed as it is by the Union Republican party of the State. His nomination gave more general satisfaction than any other made for years. Mr. Scott is no man's man—he will go into the United States Senate independent of all men and all factions, the equal of the best in that honorable body.

☞Though a statute of Pennsylvania provides for a registry of births and deaths, like the many other enactments whose fulfillment would prove beneficial, it has become a dead letter. The necessity for some more stable and better officially recognized register than is found in the customary Bible records is constantly occurring. An exchange very sagely advises the Church to take hold of the matter. We can conceive how immense good will flow from the early adoption of this measure by denominations. Almost every minister of the gospel now preserves data of this description. If it were made a part of his professional duty, a safe registry would always be found among the archives of the Church. The nomadic population of the United States would have some initial point by which to establish identity. Our generations may not pass away any more quickly in other countries, but they so widely change their localities as to be dead to the birthplace in a few years. The two can not be too sedulously preserved as the determination of intricate suits at law and the right descent of property often hinge upon such records.

Political Intelligence.

Heister Clymer declines being the Democratic candidate for Governor.

Carl Schurz has been elected United States Senator from the State of Missouri.

Hon. Daniel J. Morrell's name is mentioned in connection with the Republican nomination for Governor.

Onslow Stevens was chosen as the Republican candidate for Governor of New Hampshire by acclamation.

Senator Stewart of Nevada, has been unanimously nominated for the Senatorship by the Union caucus of the Legislature.

Florida has been carried triumphantly for the Republicans; Little Rock, Arkansas, has elected a Republican Mayor by a round majority, and Columbia borough, Lancaster county, heretofore Democratic, has gone Republican.

The records of the electoral votes of all the States which voted for President at the November election, have been received, except three—California, Oregon and Nevada. The electoral messenger from California died on his way to Washington, and the messengers from Oregon and Nevada have been detained by the snow.

S. T. BROWN, ESQ.—The general opinion in Harrisburg is that Huntingdon County has one of the most able Representatives in the House. Mr. Brown is an honest working member —busy all the time. He has already gained the confidence and good will of all the best men on the Hill.

National and State Legislatures.

CONGRESS.

Monday.—In the Senate several petitions were read and referred. One set forth that it was impossible for Union men to live in Georgia. One against extending the bankrupt law, and one to amend the Constitution so as to acknowledge Almighty God. Adjourned.

In the House among the bills read was one to authorize gold contracts on the basis of the relative value of gold and U. S. notes. The tenure of office bill was repealed. A bill was presented by Mr. Boutwell to amend the Constitution to give universal suffrage. Adjourned.

Tuesday.—In the Senate a bill was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations preventing the alienation to foreigners of grants or privileges derived from the United States. A bill was passed relating to the time for finding indictments in United States Courts in the rebel States. Adjourned.

In the House a bill was introduced authorizing the issue of a national currency, to assure its stability and elasticity, lessen the interest on public debt, and reduce the rate of interest; referred to Committee of Ways and Means. A bill was introduced providing temporary government for Alaska. Adjourned.

Wednesday.—In the Senate a bill to amend representation of the people in Congress was referred to a select committee. A bill providing for removal of the remains of the late Minister Coggswell to this country was passed, as was also a bill relating to habeas corpus. A resolution was adopted appointing a teller on part of the Senate to count votes for President and Vice President. Adjourned.

The House transacted some local business, went into a Committee of the Whole, and soon after adjourned.

Thursday.—In the Senate a bill was offered to pay Mrs. Lincoln a premium of $5000. Referred to Committee on Premiums. A bill was introduced to punish persons attempting to exercise powers of office for which they are disqualified by the Constitution.

In the House a bill was reported to extend the boundaries of the States of Nevada, Minnesota and Nebraska, and the territories of Colorado, Montana and Wyoming. Further consideration was postponed two weeks. Adjourned

Friday.—In the Senate Mr. Stewart introduced an amendment to the Constitution not to abridge the right to vote and hold office on account of race or color. A bill was introduced to make Colorado a State Government.

The House resumed the consideration of the Niagara Ship Canal bill, which was finally referred to a committee of the whole.

LEGISLATURE.

Tuesday.—In the Senate a number of bills were read in place. Among them, one declaring that all spirits distilled or rectified within the United States are domestic distilled spirits, and subject to all inspection laws of this State; one changing the time of holding State elections from the spring to second Tuesday in October. Recommendations in the Governor's message were referred to committees. Nominations were made for State Treasurer. Adjourned.

In the House a resolution referring to the investigation of affairs of Pennsylvania Railroad was indefinitely postponed. Among bills introduced was one urging Congress not to pass laws giving control of telegraph lines to Government. Nominations made for State Treasurer. Adjourned.

Wednesday.—In the Senate among the bills read in place was one authorizing the issue of subpœnas to compel attendance of witnesses; one to allow writs of error in cases of rules upon attorney and counsellors at law, and one supplemental to the election laws.

In the House among the bills introduced was one extending limitation of claims to ground rents apportioned expressly or by implication. Election for State Treasurer resulted in the choice of R. W. Mackey. Adjourned.

Thursday.—In the Senate a communication from the Executive was read stating that the monument erected at Harrisburg, in memory of the soldiers who died in Mexico, will be dedicated May 25, 1869. Nominations for U. S. Senator were made. Adjourned.

In the House the standing committees were announced, and nominations made for U. S. Senator. Both Houses convened to draw a committee in the case of the contested seat of Thomas Greenbank, Judge of the District court of Philadelphia.

Friday.—In the Senate an act was read relating to the admission in evidence of certified copies of instruments of writing from the other States and Territories. Tuesday next was fixed as the time for reading the returns of election for Auditor and Surveyor Generals. Adjourned till Tuesday.

In the House a joint convention was held to draw a committee to try the contested election case of Hon. J. I. Clark Hare, President Judge of the District Court of Philadelphia. House adjourned till Monday evening.

The case of Davis, Breckinridge, and Surratt.

In the criminal Court, on the 14th, District Attorney Carrington called the attention of the Court (Judge Fisher) to the indictments against Jefferson Davis and John C. Breckinridge, charged with treason, and John H. Surratt, charged with engaging in the rebellion. He stated that he had received a communication from the Attorney General, which he proceeded to read, as follows:

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE,
WASHINGTON, Dec. 26, 1868 }

SIR: I enclose for your consideration a copy of the proclamation of general amnesty, by the President of the United States, under date of the 25th of December, instant. You will observe that by the terms of this proclamation there is extended "unconditionally, and without reserve, to all and every person who directly or indirectly participated in the late rebellion, a full pardon and amnesty for the offence of treason against the United States, or adhering to their enemies during the late civil war."

The object of my personal communication is to authorize and instruct you, in furtherance of the purpose and effect of this general amnesty and pardon, to make an examination of the indictments pending in your district against any person or persons whomsoever "for the offence of treason against the United States, or adhering to their enemies during the late civil war," in order that as early as you shall have proper opportunity you may enter nolle prosequi for the Government upon such indictments. If, upon such examination, you should find any case where, from the tenor of the indictment, or the nature of the case as known to you, it should be doubtful whether it falls within the embrace of this general amnesty and pardon, you will be so good as to report the same, without delay, to me, with such a statement of the indictment, and of the case, as may enable me to give further instructions concerning the same.

Very respectfully, your obd't servant,
WM. M. EVARTS, Attorney General.
To E. C. CARRINGTON, Esq., U. S. District Attorney, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Carrington said that the Attorney General had the authority to instruct him, under the first section of the act of August, 1861 (12th Statutes at Large, page 285), which reads:

That the attorney General of the United States be, and he is hereby, charged with the general superintendence and direction of the attorneys and marshals of all the districts of the United States and Territories, as to the manner of discharging their respective duties, and the said district attorneys and marshals are hereby required to report to the Attorney General an account of their official proceedings, and the state and condition of their respective offices, in such time and manner as the Attorney General may direct.

He therefore felt it to be his duty to obey these instructions, and he would, in view of them, enter a nolle pros. in the case of the indictment against Jefferson Davis for treason, found by the Grand Jury May 26, '65, and also the indictment against John C. Breckinridge, for treason found on the same date. The indictment against John H. Surratt, found June 13, 1866, charging him with "engaging in the rebellion," was somewhat different from the others, and he had concluded to make the same disposition, but, under the circumstances, he thought that his duty would be to report it to the Attorney General.

Judge Fisher remarked that it was clearly the duty of the District Attorney to enter a nolle pros. in the two first cases, but, under the circumstances, he could refer the third.

An Earthquake at Colima.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—A letter from Colima, Mexico, gives an account of a terrible earthquake experienced in that city on the morning of December 20th. For several days previous, the volcano of Colima, thirty miles from the city, exhibited symptoms of internal commotion, sending forth smoke and steam, accompanied by rumblings and shakings of the earth, and on the morning of the 20th, by a gentle rocking of the earth, which gradually increased in violence until the walls cracked and everything breakable in the houses was demolished. The vibration from northeast to southwest lasted nearly forty seconds. The cathedral, warehouses and brick buildings cracked from top to bottom. People started from their sleep and rushed frantically for the plaza.

It is reported that several persons were killed by the falling of the National Hotel. The shock was felt for a long distance in the interior. In several places the ground opened, trees were uprooted, hills levelled, water courses changed, and a general upheaval of the earth took place. At the city of Manzillo, the Cathedral building, which had stood the shocks of earthquakes and storms for over a century, was riven from top to bottom. Even the tiles on the roof were broken. Some eighteen or twenty persons were crushed by the falling walls of the American Hotel; three others were buried in the ruins of the ware-house of Wassemann & Co.

"The spirituous liquors sold by retailers in the United States, in a single year, amounts to nearly fifteen hundred millions of dollars, while all the property of all the religious denominations in the country is less than two hundred millions. The actual profits of the retail liquor traffic are more than three times as much as the whole expense of religious instruction, and several times greater than the entire cost of public education in the United States. It is not strange that our prisons and poor houses are crowded and that crime everywhere abounds. It is not strange that the dealers in this gigantic traffic, who share these enormous gains, should wickedly conspire together to defraud the Government out of millions of revenue, and that they should openly defy all laws and officers of law, which interfere in this business. What other evil, or sum of evils, has dared thus to challenge every legal form of justice. What other so prolific a source of poverty and crime in all the States."

Our friends will accept our thanks for honors conferred.

The Fire in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 14, 1869.

The most serious conflagration known in Philadelphia for a long time occurred this morning.

The block of three marble stores at the southwest corner of Ninth and Chestnut streets, running through to Sansom street, was the handsomest of its kind in the city, and among the costliest. The corner store was occupied by Messrs. Howell & Brothers, manufacturers and dealers of paper hangings. The second, or middle one, was occupied by James E. Caldwell & Co., jewelers. The third one was occupied by Messrs. J. F. & E. B. Orne, dealers in carpets. The Chestnut street fronts were of pure white marble, and of beautiful architecture. The Ninth street and Sansom street fronts were of pressed brick, with trimmings of white marble and granite. The stores were erected about eight years ago, by the estate of Edmund Burd, on the site of the former mansion of the Burd family. Howell & Bro., and the Messrs. Orne have occupied these stores ever since. The middle store, formerly occupied by J. M. Hafleigh, was leased by Messrs. J. E. Caldwell & Co., in 1867, and altered to suit their purposes. They moved into it a little less than a year ago, having opened there on the second of March, 1868.

A little before one o'clock this morning fire was discovered coming from the rear of Caldwell's store, on Sansom street, and it is said that an explosion was heard about the same time. In an amazingly short time the flames spread through the interior of the beautiful establishment, invading the art gallery in the second story and filling all the space with dense volumes of smoke.

Six men, clerks of the store, slept in it. These were Frederick A. Davis, cashier, C. Gedney King, James F. Andrews, Jas. F. Polk, Edward Hagan and Charles Hardy. Two of these, it is feared, perished, and the rest are more or less injured.

The firemen were early on the ground, but there was difficulty in getting water into the interior. The wind was blowing from the southwest and Howell's store was soon on fire, while volumes of smoke and burning timbers were carried over to the Continental Hotel, Girard House and other establishments on Chestnut street, creating great consternation. Orne's carpet store was also soon ignited, and in a couple of hours all three of the large establishments appeared to be doomed.

The consternation in the Continental and Girard became general, all the boarders, servants and others being aroused and prepared for hasty departure.

The store of J. E. Caldwell & Co. is completely destroyed. The value of their stock is estimated at about $350-000. Of this, about one half, consisting of diamonds, watches, etc., was deposited every evening in fire-proof safes.

The building occupied by Caldwell & Co., was owned by Wm. G. Houston. It cost, when built, $50,000. The insurance upon it amounted to $50,000.

The value of the stock of the firm which was outside of the safes is estimated at $250,000. The insurances on the stock amounted to $145,000.

The corner store was owned by George Howell; cost $83,000; insured for $50,000.

Howell & Brothers had on hand a very large stock of paper. Everything in the building was destroyed. The stock was valued at upwards of $200,000.

Howell & Brothers have $105,000 insurance on their stock and fixtures.

The building owned by Orne cost $60,000—insured for $50,000.

The stock of J. F. & E. B. Orne, carpet dealers, was valued at $126,000 on the 1st inst. The entire stock was damaged by water.

The origin of the fire is involved in mystery, but is being investigated. At about half-past twelve o'clock the neighborhood was perfectly quiet, and very few people were in the street. Suddenly a large hissing sound was heard, but in a few moments was followed by four or five slight reports. Then there was a grand crash and the explosion shook the sidewalks. The force of the explosion was so great that the rear door of Howell & Bro's store was blown off and the ceiling at the rear of the store of the Messrs. Orne was greatly injured. The last report was followed by the crashing of glass and then flames burst from the rear of the basement of Caldwell's building, where a Harrison boiler of ten-horse power and the heating apparatus were located.

The fire was occasioned by the explosion of the Harrison boiler in Caldwell's establishment. The body of Hagan has been found in the ruins.

What a Professor thinks of Grant's coming Administration.

Professor James Russell Lowell thus refers to the administration of General Grant, in an article in the North American Review for January:

"We look forward with well-grounded confidence to the administration of General Grant. Elected, it may be truly said, in spite of both parties, but in sympathy with the more judicious of the party of progress, he will be independent of the extremists, whether of blind advance or blinder reaction. Knowing by the most thorough experience the men he has conquered and the men he has led, he will know how to deal firmly with one side and to moderate the other. As a soldier he has been schooled to look forward to remote results rather than to be overconfident in immediate success. He has shown an indomitable persistency in plans well considered and justified by good fortune. He has chosen his lieutenants with instinctive felicity, and done justice to their merit with almost unexampled magnanimity. He possesses beyond most men that virtue of moderation which so many American politicians eschew as unpopular. Above all, he has an almost heroic gift of silence, which prevents him from allowing himself to be dragged from his moorings by the strong current of eloquence, and afterwards feeling bound to sacrifice his sense of what is prudent to the tyranny of his own consistency. We think that his administration will disappoint those only who believe that words are more potent than things in the conduct of States and in lasting influence on the conduct of men.

Disastrous Gales in England.

England has just been the scene of some of the severest gales on record. The wind blew with destructive force across the entire country during the latter part of December, inflicting incalculable damages. The loss of property has not been estimated. A great many lives were lost, and many people lamed for life. On the 28th ult., the gale attained the strength of a hurricane. Pedestrians were unable to keep their feet. Tiles, boards, zinc, and chimneys built of brick were hurled through the air, causing numberless accidents. Roofs of stables and houses were carried off. Trees were almost denuded of their branches in some localities. In several of the parks in London, especially in Regent's and Hyde Park, the largest and most admired trees were blown down. Haystacks and barns were scattered in atoms. Engineers state that with heavy baggage trains progress could only be made with a full head of steam. The Captains of the vessels which arrived in the Blackwell, London and St. Catherine's dock state that the channel was lashed into a perfect fury by the hurricane. The casualties along the coast have not been estimated, but they are said to be fearful. At Liverpool the storm caused a vast amount of damage to houses in exposed positions. At Bootle one large house, just ready for roofing, had its western gable blown in, and several jerry-built houses were roughly handled. All along the road from Bootle, Seaforth and Waterloo to Blundell Sands, the storm played havoc with gardens, hothouses, conservatories, etc. Trees were torn up by the roots, windows blown in, and slates and tiles carried away; in fact, one or two houses near Crosby were rendered uninhabitable. When the tempest was its height, the barometer sank to 28 48, having fallen two-tenths of an inch in the course of three or four hours. Accounts from the Irish and Welsh ports describe the gale as being extremely severe. At Rockdale, a new school-house was blown down, inflicting fatal injuries upon a large number of people. At the time the accident occurred, a popular author and clergyman was preaching to an audience of four hundred persons.

Maj. Gen. L. H. Rosseau.

Major General Rosseau, well known to the entire country, died on the 7th inst., in New Orleans, at which point he had his headquarters as commander of the Fifth Military District.— The deceased was of Huguenot descent, and was born in Lincoln county, Kentucky. He started life as a poor boy and without any educational advantages. It is said that at one time he was engaged in breaking stones on one of the highways of Kentucky. He studied law in Indiana, and was at one time a member of the Legislature of that State. After serving in the Mexican war, he returned to Kentucky, taking up his residence in Louisville, and in 1860 was a member of the Kentucky Senate. At the inauguration of the rebellion he took a decided stand in favor of the Union and raised several regiments of Kentuckians, with their camp on the Indiana side of the Ohio, the former State being at that time neutral.— With these troops he protected Louisville against Gen. Buckner, and did perhaps as much as any other man to prevent Kentucky from seceding from the Union. He was given rank as Brigadier General of volunteers, Oct. 1st, 1861, and assigned to a command under General Buell. In 1862, he was promoted to Major Generalship of volunteers. In 1867, he was made Brigadier General in the regular army.— On the reconstruction question he sided with the President as against Congress. He was a good and brave soldier and deserved well of his country.

TO THE PEOPLE OF HUNTINGDON COUNTY.
HUNTINGDON, December 23, 1868.
As there appears to be considerable trouble about who shall be appointed Post-Master in our town, and it being an office for which the person who may be appointed should contribute a liberal amount to some charitable purpose, I therefore offer myself as an applicant for the position of Post-Master at Huntingdon, Pa; and I propose and will agree, giving my bond with the Commissioners of Huntingdon county for the fulfillment of the same, should I be appointed, to erect a Monument for deceased soldiers, for the sum of Two Thousand Dollars; provided I am allowed to hold the office for the term of four years. Soldiers in the county, or the friends of our deceased soldiers, will confer a favor by circulating a petition in my behalf, and send the same to me.

The red cards numbered 4429 and 4930, entitled to the big mintstick and 50 lb sack of flour have not yet been presented at Enterprise Headquarters.

A large delegation of our citizens went to Harrisburg this, Tuesday, morning, to be present at the election of United States Senator this afternoon.

A Lodge of Good Templars was recently instituted at McConnellstown, this county, and we learn the number of initiations is large as it should be.

A ghost, supposed to be the devil or one of his imps, has been seen in Snyder county, Pa It resembles a dog, stands on its hind legs, spits fire, and has ears that reach to the ground. Of course, somebody was scared.

When a man talks of starting a business in Huntingdon, don't discourage him by telling him it won't pay. You drive away employment for the poor, and keep your town in the background.

Mrs. Isaac Cornelius, of Cass township, this county, presented her husband with a Christmas present in the shape of three bouncing babies. A cotemporary remarks, "it is well enough, perhaps, for Mr. C. that 'Christmas comes but once a year.' "

We have been informed that Court was pretty well attended last week. We, the Sr., had our hands full running the "swindle," and couldn't take time to see our friends.—The next time they come to town we will try to receive them better.

An ingenious-looking sleigh, a la velocipede, propelled by a horse, was in town the other day, and excited no little curiosity.—It is called a "buck," being somewhat similar to a saddler's buck. It is made of hickory, the shafts serving also as runners, and the seat is a round log, upon which the driver sits astraddle, and which is supported by spokes from the runners. It is said to be safe. It beats the New York velocipedes, of which we hear so much.

Agricultural Meeting.

The January meeting of the Huntingdon County Agricultural Society was held in the Court House on Wednesday evening last.

George W. Owens, Esq., of Birmingham, one of the Vice Presidents, was called to the chair, in the absence of the President, who, on assuming the duties of his position, made a few remarks, in which he took occasion to say that he regarded the culture of the soil as one of the first professions to which we could be called, and that upon which all others are based. Take it away, and, as a people, we become nothing, as all other professions sink into nothingness in comparison with it. In other words remove from man the bread of life and you remove the man himself. It thus becomes us, as citizens of this County, and Commonwealth, to foster this element of wealth, this means of promoting everything that is great, and good, and right. He congratulated the Society on having such a large attendence.

The minutes of the Society, for the last year, were read by the Secretary and approved.

The following officers for the ensuing year, were elected:

President—Graffus Miller, Esq.

Recording Secretaries—Robert McDivitt and John M. Bailey, Esqrs.

Corresponding Secretary—Dr. R. A. Miller.

Treasurer—George Jackson.

Librarian—T. H. Creamer, Esq.

On motion of John S. Miller, Esq,

Resolved, That the present list of Vice Presidents be continued, with the addition of Joseph Isenberg, Sr., to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Abram Harnish of Morris township.

M. S. Lytle, Esq, offered some remarks, on the subject of the Agricultural College of Pennsylvania, as an Institution, in the success of which all should feel an interest, and especially men, when an effort is being made to restore it to its former flourishing condition. He recommended that the Society make an effort to avail itself of the provision made for the admission of one pupil from each county, free of tuition, by selecting and recommending some one coming up to the requirement.

Some remarks were made by G. Miller, Esq, in regard to the selection of delegates to the annual election of officers of the Agricultural College, suggesting that they be elected for three years instead of one, and appointing one new one each year.

On motion of H. C. Weaver,

Resolved, That the Society will hold a Fair, during the coming fall.

On motion of M. S. Lytle,

Resolved, That the committee appointed at the April meeting, to prepare a list of premiums, be continued, to report at next meeting, and that Hon. John S. Miller, and H. C. Weaver, Esq, be added to the committee.

This committee as now constituted will be as follows: R. G. Morrison, G. Miller, T. H. Cremer, D. W. Womelsdorf, John A. Whittaker, John Brewster, Henry A. Mark, John S. Miller and H. C. Weaver.

On motion of R McDivitt,

Resolved, That the committee on location be also continued to report at the same time.

The following gentlemen constitute the committee: Captain B. X. Blair, Alex. Port, Dr. R. A. Miller, David Hare and Jacob Miller.

Some remarks were made by Wm. P. Orbison, Esq., relative to the propriety of having some topics for discussion and interchange of views introduced before the Society at the next meeting.

On motion of H. C. Weaver, Esq.,

Resolved, That the subject of the best method of increasing the quantity of wheat per acre, and why it is that less grain per acre is raised at the present time than was twenty or twenty-five years ago, be presented for discussion.

Adjourned.

An Attempt to Crush "Quick Sales and Small Profits."

It may surprise some people to learn that the Huntingdon Monitor refuses to publish advertisements for Massey & Co's Grocery and Lewis' Book Store. Until this week the editor did not refuse. He returned advertisements sent him this week marked "Refused, because objectionable to other business men who patronize the Monitor." Now it is worth while for the people to inquire why "other business men" object to the Monitor publishing advertisements for Massey & Co's Grocery and Lewis' Book Store. Do they wish to keep the readers of the Monitor ignorant of the fact that Massey & Co's Grocery and Lewis' Book Store are the places where bargains can be had by purchasers? The people will be sharp enough to find out and encourage liberality even with the opposition of the Monitor and "other business men" to the contrary.

☞ We take this method of tendering our grateful thanks to the friends and members of the Shaver's Creek Baptist Church, for their kind surprise visit on New Years Day. They left with us large supplies of flour, butter, potatoes, corn, oats, and other necessaries of life. We would not forget our friends and members of the Stone Creek and Broad Top Churches, who also during the past year have from time to time, supplied us with many things needful for life. We return our sincere thanks to you, and pray that the "Kind Father may replenish your store houses and fill your barns with plenty," and that you may be the faithful followers of your Blessed Master, always enjoying the rich fruitions of his grace.

J. D. THOMAS,
CLEMENTINE THOMAS.

☞ Purchasers of Groceries, Flour, Confectionery, Perfumery, etc., etc, etc., at Massey & Co's Variety Store, or of Books, Musical instruments, Stationery, etc., etc., etc., at Lewis' Book Store, will get their goods cheap, and if in luck, will get a handsome present in the bargain.

That Best of Caterers,

E. C. Summers, has removed to the Saloon opposite the Exchange Hotel, and will take pleasure in supplying families with the best oysters in the market. 1t.

Fair and Festival.

Friend Lewis: Wednesday the 13th instant, was a gala day at Birmingham. The people of that place and surrounding county had one of the finest social unions ever held in that part of the country, consisting of a fair, festival and concert, for the benefit of the Presbyterian congregation of that place, who are building a new church. At an early hour on Wednesday morning, sleighs and sleds with merry bells came pouring into the town laden with men, women and children, each bringing baskets bountifully supplied with luxuries and substantials. The festival was held in the old Presbyterian church, and the fair and concert in the Methodist church which was with true christian spirit given for the occasion and tastefully decorated with wreaths of ever green. Each arriving train brought delegations of people and supplies, and it soon became evident that the two churches, though both are large, would not afford them enough room. At 11 o'clock, a. m., a musical entertainment was given by the young ladies of the Seminary, after which the festival was opened, and the tables were constantly thronged from noon until about four o'clock, p. m. The fair kept open the greater part of the day, where a number of fair ladies were kept busily engaged selling articles made by fair hands, at fair prices. In the evening the young ladies gave another concert to a crowded house, after which the people repaired to the other church and partook of a bountiful repast of oysters, ice cream, lemonade, and other delicacies. At half past 10 o'clock the entertainment closed; the best of feeling prevailed; commendable liberality was manifested; nearly every article for sale was disposed of, and after all expenses were paid it was found that the snug sum of six hundred and twenty-five dollars was realized. The day will be long remembered by those who were present as one of the most pleasant of their lives, having the pleasing assurance that their time and money was given for a good cause.

January 15th 1869. VISITOR.

A Beautiful Hall.

By invitation, we visited the rooms of the Order of Red Men, in Shannon's Hall, yesterday morning, and were greatly surprised at the improvements which have been made therein. The windows are closely covered, inside, with large oil paintings on canvass, representing various scenes and incidents in Indian character, while the four walls are covered with paintings of Columbus' landing in America, a buffalo hunt, an Indian village, a large cave, etc. The walls of the room were not so smooth as they should have been, nevertheless, the artist, Mr. J. G. Chaplin, a colored resident of Huntingdon, has produced paintings upon them that will bear a critical examination, and which reflect great credit upon his genius and talent as a portrait and scenic painter. The ceiling is covered with a sky-blue ground, studded in the centre with a circle of silver stars, and when subjected to a strong flow of gas-light, gives the whole scene a subdued expression which greatly heightens the effect of the paintings on the walls. Scattered all around the room are the rustic seats, lodges, war implements, and paraphernalia of an Indian village, presenting a sight that is certainly worth seeing. The floor is covered with straw-colored matting, and is kept as clean as a new pin.

When Mr. Chaplin commenced the painting it was not designed to give them the elaborate finish which they afterwards received; and as he had offered to do them at a very low figure, and refused to take more than what he had agreed to, he made nothing, if he did not lose, by his venture. As many persons have expressed a strong desire to see the room, the Red Men have determined to open it for exhibition, and have generously resolved to appropriate the fund thus raised to Mr. Chaplin's benefit. Due notice of the time of opening will be given to the public, and we bespeak a liberal patronage on the part of our citizens. Altoona Tribune.

☞ Many years ago the writer of this notice and an invalid physician, while visiting the Island of St. Croix for their health, experienced and witnessed many surprising and beneficial effects of the Rum there produced upon many of the invalids who were, like ourselves, seeking health, and upon inquiry and investigation, obtained a full history of its medicinal virtues. He was delighted and surprised, and determined to make it the basis of a Tonic and Restorative Medicine.—The result of his labors was a glorious success for himself and suffering humanity.—The celebrated Plantation Bitters was thus made known to the world. Being an article of real merit, founded on new principles, and relying wholly upon the vegetable kingdom for its medicinal effects, it worked a rapid revolution in the treatment of physical debility.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—Superior to the best imported German Cologne, and sold at half the price. tf

☞ A gentleman at our elbow reminds us that Hon. John Scott was a private in Co. F., P. M., a company raised in this place when the rebels were threatening our State. The Company went to Chambersburg, but we have no recollection of any of the company doing any very hard fighting, except on one or two occasions when the enemy was hard to find. Mr. Scott was detailed at Harrisburg as Assistant Adjutant General, and he went to work like an old army officer. Samuel T. Brown, Esq., our member of the Legislature, was also a private in Co. F. and remained in service until honorably discharged. We as second officer of the company, feel proud of the progress of the "boys of Co. F."

☞ There was but one criminal case tried at the Court last week, that of the Commonwealth against Isaac Stevens, for assault and battery, in which he was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $1,00 and costs. The scarcity of criminal business is due to the Grand Jury, which discharged its duty in a satisfactory manner, and saved the county many of the costs that were too common at the sessions of the Court heretofore. A few other bills were continued until next term.

PRESENTS
EVERY MONTH,
AT ENTERPRISE HEADQUARTERS

At Home in the Evenings.

Nothing concerning the future welfare and happiness of the young is so neglected by parents and guardians as the manner in which their evenings are spent. Darkness is temptation to evil, and suffering young men and boys to be absent from the family hearth, when the light of day does not restrain them from misconduct, is really training them to it, and producing incalculable mischief and ruin.—All the riots, disturbances of any kind and crimes are the results of running in the streets after nightfall. To home, something more is necessary than the mere command, and parents should endeavor, by their own example, to show the importance of spending the hours of darkness with the family, for if heads of households cannot experience the truth of the assertion that "there is no place like home," how can they expect their offspring to be domestic? Evening recreation and employment in the family circle are infinitely more agreeable and pleasant than any amusement or dissipation abroad; and honorable and learned men are the products of the one, while miserable, and dissipated specimens of the human race are the results of the other. Let home be the place it should be, and let the same fascinations and inducements be offered at the homestead as abroad, and a more exalted and creditable class of citizens would people the world.

Hair Washes.

It is only right to refer to a source of possible disease which is peculiarly wide spread just now, and against which the public should be continued. At the present time there is quite a rage for the use of hair "washes" or "restorers," which, whilst the charge of their being "dyes" is indignantly repudiated, yet in a short time "restore" the color of the hair. The active agent in these washes is, of course, lead. In the majority of cases, probably a moderate use of such a lotion would be unattended with mischief; but it is worth remembering that palsy has been known to be produced by the long continued use of cosmetics containing lead. But of the thousands of persons who are now applying lead to their scalps, there will doubtless be some with extreme susceptibility to the action of the poison, and these will certainly run no inconsiderable risk of finding the "restoration" of their hair attended by the loss of power in their wrists—Lancet.

SKATERS, TAKE NOTICE!—In view of the skating season, the following, from Hall's Journal of Health, may save our friends who indulge in the recreation of skating no small amount of discomfort: "Before starting for the ice, bathe your feet in cold water, dry them perfectly, and give them a good rubbing with a rash towel, put on a pair of woolen or heavy cotton stockings, and your feet will remain comfortably warm for three or four hours in the coldest weather."

LECTURE.—Rev. T. De Witt Talmage will deliver a lecture in the Court House on Monday evening next, January 25th, subject: "Grumbler & Co." The proceeds are for the benefit of the Young Men's Christian Association, which object our citizens should sustain with their means whenever the opportunity offers. Rev. Talmage is a popular lecturer, and all should hear him.

Allen's Washing Compound.

This Compound is a great labor-saver, and no family should be without it. It not only saves three-fourths the labor, but also three-fourths the time, and three-fourths the expense of washing. It also saves the wear and tear of clothes on the washboard.

An agent has been appointed for this place who will sell the recipes for making the Compound in a few days.

Terrible Accident.

A man named Neidig, was found, hanging between the cars, at Rockville, on last Friday, dead and terribly mangled. He was a brakesman and had slipped from the bumper, and in falling, his clothes had caught on the brake, allowing his head to strike the ties. In this situation he had been dragged several miles. He was a member of the Marysville Lodge of I. O. of O. F., and resided near Harrisburg.

Local Legislation.

On Wednesday last Mr. Brown introduced a bill to enable this borough to borrow $4,000, issue bonds for the same, and increase the rate of borough taxation.

The same day a joint resolution was passed by the House to pay Mrs. A. W. Benedict $200 for his services in the recess during which he died.

☞ The public generally will find it to their interest to call at Massey & Co's Grocery when in want of good Table Syrups, Baking Molasses, Sugar, Tea, Coffee, Cheese, Flour, Fish, Fruit, Candies, etc., etc., etc. Quick Sales and small profits—and a share of the profits given away every month. Call at Enterprise Headquarters and be convinced.

Chance for Bargains.

B. M. Greene has two second handed pianos that cost him $275 each, that he will sell for $200 each; also a Mason & Hamlin Organ $300, that he will sell for $240, less than cost; also a splendid NEW Piano, with a good cover, worth $475, that he will sell for $400. He is offering such great bargains on account of his quitting the music business. 1t.

TESTIMONY of a PROMINENT PHYSICIAN.

Dr. J. T. Baker, a skillful and widely known physician of twenty years standing in Lancaster, Pa, gives his opinion of a popular household remedy, in the following letter:

LANCASTER, PA., November 23, 1868.

DR. S. B HARTMAN & CO.—Dear Sirs: During the past eight years I have had frequent opportunities to study the effect of Mishler's Herb Bitters upon persons suffering from Dyspepsia, Loss of Nervous Energy, Sexual Weakness, Diarrhœa, &c. Remedies were prescribed by other physicians according to the Homeopathic, Allopathic and Hydropathic schools, and only a comparatively few permanent cures effected. On the other hand, I have never known the Bitters to fail producing the desired result, and I still use them in the treatment of such complaints, with the highest success. I have no hesitation in saying that I consider Mishler's Herb Bitters the most efficacious remedy ever discovered for diseases arising from a disordered Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bowels, Lungs and Heart.

Yours truly, J. T. BAKER, M. D.

"Take Away Your Cocktail."

Jinks drank too much, as all his friends knew, but, like many another good fellow who drinks, it was hard to convince Jinks that he ought to let up on it. He boarded at one of the hotels, and night after night he would remain until past midnight at the saloon bar, "histing" in, rendering it necessary, morning after morning, to have a cocktail brought up from the saloon before he could get out of bed, and then another to brace him up for breakfast.

Finally the bar attendant who brought up the drinks remonstrated with him, telling him that if he continued his course much longer, he would certainly have the "Jim Jims."

"The what?" asks Jinks, not exactly comprehending.

"The man with the poker—get snakes after you—see things—have the tremens."

"Oh, nonsense," said Jinks, "you can't scare me. I have drank just so for fifteen years. It never hurt me. A cocktail or two in the morning and I am right always."

The man had more sympathy for a man on the downward road of intemperance than most barmen have, and he determined to give Jinks a fright. Accordingly, the next morning, when the well-known ring from Jinks' room was heard, the bar-tender prepared a very enticing gin cocktail, and placing it on a waiter, surrounded it with sundry toads, lizards, small snakes, etc. This he conveyed to Jinks' room, that individual, who had loaded himself with "benzine" the night before rather more heavily than usual, nervously awaiting it.

"Morning," said Jinks, stretching out a hand that trembled some, "glad to see you—devilish dry this morning—what's them?" (starting back in horror.)

"Why, what do you mean?" said the man, in innocent wonder.

"Why, the toads, snakes and things around the tumbler!" said Jinks, shrinking to the back of the bed, and viewing the reptiles with aversion and dismay.

"Why, Jinks, my man, there is nothing around the tumbler—nothing on the waiter except the cocktail."

"I tell you there are. I see snakes, toads and lizards there."

"Ah, Jinks, (with a sigh) I was afraid how it would be. I told you yesterday morning, don't you remember? You are seeing things when there ain't things to see. You've got 'em sure."

Jinks raises up in bed. "Do you mean to tell me," said he, "that there ain't no snakes and things there?"

"Most assuredly, I do."

Jinks considered a moment and then, lying down, said, in a sorrowful voice and with a mild, repellant wave of the hand, "Take away your cocktail."

The story got out. Jinks found that he was sold, but he quit drinking, for every time he put his nose into a saloon where he used to "infest," some one would sing out—"Take away your cocktail!"

EFFECTS OF THE IMAGINATION.—The effects of the imagination were well illustrated in the case of young Stevens, who endeavored to commit suicide in the Park some days since. Having discharged the pistol at his breast, he fell backward, and was apparently in a dying condition. When, however, he had ascertained that the ball, instead of piercing his vitals, had glanced off and lodged in the fleshy part of his body near the shoulder, he quickly revived, sprang up, walked off, and being furnished with funds, took the first train for his home in Bridgeport, Conn. A French soldier was at one time condemned to death for desertion. The day of execution arrived. The platoon of soldiers took their places to fire, and the condemned was blindfolded and placed in front of them. As the order was about being given a reprieve arrived. The General commanding, however, thought he would inflict a scare upon the deserter, and accordingly ordered the men to fire over the reprieved man's head. The poor fellow dropped instantly, and when they proceeded to pick him up they found he was dead, though untouched by a single ball. I know of a man who, a few years ago, dreamed that he would die upon a certain day. As the time drew near his belief in the dream grew stronger and stronger. His physicians and friends sought in vain to dispel the hallucination, and, sure enough, when the day arrived he did die. Mortimer S——, a prominent lawyer of Western New York, could at any time be forced into the belief that he was sick. One had but to tell him that he looked sick and he would fancy that he was, and soon became so.—N. Y. Cor. Chicago Journal.

A SCHOOL MONTH.—The Pennsylvania School Journal gives the following as the law fixing the school month:—"That twenty-two days shall be held to be a school month, and that two Saturdays in each month, as the proper board shall designate, which two Saturdays shall be held to be a part of the school month, may at the discretion, and by an affirmative vote of all members of the Board of Directors, or Controllers, be appropriated to Institute for the improvement of the teachers of said district: Provided, That in districts in which the schools are, or shall be kept open and in operation, the maximum term now allowed by law, and the teachers employed by the year, the foregoing clause as to the number of schooldays in the school month, shall not apply any further than that the reports and statistics of the school shall be kept in accordance therewith, and that District institutes may be held as thereby directed.

* * *

TO CURE A COLD.—Dr. Hall's Journal of Health gives the following seasonable warning:—The moment a man is satisfied that he has taken cold, let him do three things. First, eat nothing, second, go to bed, cover up in a warm room; third, drink as much cold water as he can, or as he wants, or as much herb tea as he can, and in three cases out of four he will be well in 36 hours. To neglect a cold for forty-eight hours after the cough commences is to place yourself beyond cure, until the cough has run its course of about a fortnight. Warmth and abstinence are safe, certain cures, when applied early. Warmth keeps the pores of the skin open, and relieves it of the surplus which oppressed it, while abstinence cuts off the supply of material for phlegm, which would otherwise be coughed up.

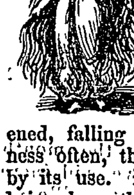
Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.



A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

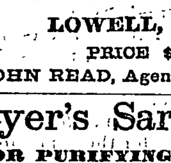
Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.



The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

McGUIRE'S

SPANISH HAIR DRESSER

FOR PROMOTING THE GROWTH, BEAUTIFYING THE HAIR, And rendering it dark and glossy. No other compound possesses the peculiar properties which so exactly suit the various conditions of the human hair. The use of this oil as a hair dresser has been univeral in every section of the country in the Spanish Main for centuries.—No preparation of art could give that elegant luxuriance and abundance of hair which have so often been the admiration of travelers in Spain. This oil is highly and delicately perfumed, forming an article unrivaled in excellence and upon which the Spanish people for many years have set its seal of enduring approval.

McGUIRE'S

Mexican Wild Flowers Shampoo Lotion

For removing dandruff and scurf from the head, whitening and perfuming the skin. This article is entirely different from anything of the kind ever offered in this country and is warranted free from all poisonous substances. This valuable lotion was used by the Emperor Maximilian, and Empress Carlotta of Mexico, and universally used by Mexicans for three hundred years. As a wash for the head—it is cooling, cleansing and refreshing.—When thus used it at once relieves headache.

McGUIRE'S

WILD FLOWERS FOR THE TEETH.

All those who are in favor of white teeth and a pleasant and perfumed breath should at once use McGuire's Wild Flowers for the Teeth. All these preparations are put up in the most elegant and ornamental manner. We make no exception in saying that they are an ornament to a lady's toilet table, and none complete without them. Warranted satisfactory or money refunded. Dealers will bear this in mind. Sold by all respectable Druggists in the United States and Canadas. Address orders to
